“The information provided in this webinar is strictly for informational and educational purposes only. I am presenting this information as a technology speaker, and this should not be considered as financial, legal, or investment advice. Cryptocurrency and Decentralized Finance (DeFi) markets involve high risks and high volatility. All yields, staking rewards, and calculations shown today are based on smart contract rules and market conditions, which can fluctuate. We strongly advise everyone to DYOR (Do Your Own Research) and participate according to your personal financial limits. The examples and projections shared during this presentation are for illustrative purposes to show the system's potential and do not guarantee fixed profits”
